

The Mortician's Daughter

Black Veil Brides

I open my lungs, dear
I sing this song at funerals
No rush
These lyrics heard a thousand times
Just plushA baby boy you've held so tightly
This pain it visits almost nightly
Missing hotel beds
I feel your touch
I will await, dear
A patient of eternityMy crush
A universal stillNo rust
No dust will ever grow on this frameOne million years and I will say your name
I love you more than I can ever screamWe booked our flight those years ago
I said I loved you as I left you
Regrets still haunt my hollow head
But I promised you I will see you again, again
I sit here and smile dear because I think of you
And I blush
These bleeding hollow dials
This fuss
A fuss is made of miles and travels
When roadways are but stones and gravel
A bleeding heart can conquer every crush
We booked our flight those years ago
You said you loved me as you left me
Regrets still haunt your saddened head
But I promised you that I will see you
We booked our flight those years ago
I said I loved you as I left you
Regrets no longer in my head
But I promised you and now I'm home again
Again
Again
I'm home again
Again
Again
I'm home again
