

Satellite

The Ruse

Can you hold on to your child as the sun sets in your eyes
And you face those darkened skies
Can you hold on?
But he will push away to make his great escape
There's nothing you can say
Won't you hold on?
You will see, see him bleed
You can't pave the path he made
Satellite flying high
Won't you come on down
Down to the ground
The tighter that you squeeze
The more he craves release
He's asking you please
Can you hold on?
But he will push you away to make his great escape
There's nothing you can say
Won't you hold on?
You will see, see him bleed
You can't pave the path he made
Satellite flying high
Won't you come on down
Down to the ground
Can you hold on to your child
As the sun sets in your eyes
And you face those darkened skies
Can you hold on?
You will see, see him bleed
You can't pave the path he made
Down to the ground
Satellite flying high
Won't you come on down
Down to the ground

