

Stomach It (feat. EDEN)

Crywolf

[Crywolf:]

I felt a break in a sacred place where your hands don't heal

These are the reasons you're ruled by the things you feel

Out of the deep waters and all their intricacies

This is the real face of all your enemies

I felt you escape into empty space where my heart can't feel

Down in that darkness, you met all the things you feared

And I knew

I knew there was nothing I could do

Could you stomach it anymore, could you stand to be a breath away

Can you feel the way your face distorts, did you think that it could be this way?

I can hear you from behind the door, I can feel you from a mile away

As you're growing out of my control, will you watch me as I fade away?

[EDEN:]

You can't escape forever, mistaking smoke for heaven's light

It's not follow or a fade to black, and white

Oh I could take you home

Pretend the best's still ahead

Maybe in the sun you'll see

You got what you want

But not what you need

[Crywolf:]

If I'm afraid

Then you are the darkness that made me feel this way

[Crywolf & EDEN:]

Could you stomach it anymore, could you stand to be a breath away

Can you feel the way your face distorts, did you think that it could be this way?

I can hear you from behind the door, I can feel you from a mile away

As you're growing out of my control, will you watch me as I fade away?

[Crywolf:]

Bless my darkness, bless my light

I lost my soul in your skin tones, now

Bless my darkness, bless my light

I lost my soul in your skin tones, now

Bless my darkness, bless my light

I lost my soul in your skin tones, now

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>