

Living In Limbo

Jane Birkin

Living in limbo, load up the wagon
Next stop is somewhere where something will happen
Oh packing, unpacking, sleep in a bubble
If things are changing the difference is subtle
Packing, unpacking all types of water
Start on the path to the end of the tether
Oh packing, unpacking memories linger
Retracing your steps it's all so familiar

Living in limbo
Living in limbo
La la la la
Watching through the window

Packing, unpacking what's in your suitcase
Go ahead and reach in and pull out a new face
Oh packing, unpacking talking on skyphones
Meaningful contact is strained over time zones

Living in limbo
Oh packing, unpacking on slow elevators
Asking for taxis and waiting for waiters

Living in limbo
