

Don't Say

Tin Star

I thought that you were still alive
Last saw you back in ninety-five
I hear voices - all these voices
Behind the walls of one-four-five
Living a life I can't describe
I hear voices - all these voices

Don't say, don't say, don't say it's true
Don't say, don't say, don't say it's you

It comes to all of us just once
And hopefully it's all at once
I hear voices - all these voices

Don't say, don't say it's true
'Cos when I think of you I see hard times, hard times
Don't say, don't say, don't say it's true
Don't say, don't say, don't say it's you

I heard that you were ill, I hope you're getting better
I heard you were over the hill, I hope you made it to the other side
I thought I'd wait to see you, not to send a letter
I thought I'd wait until, until... I hope you made it to the other side
Hope I'm not speaking too soon...

Don't say, don't say, don't say it's true
Don't say, don't say, don't say it's you
